

Getaway Together

God is doing some amazing things for marriages and families around the world through our new video-driven resources like The Art of Marriage and Stepping Up. Still, we continue to see some of the most profound impact through the Weekend to Remember getaways. At FamilyLife, we take the getaway very seriously. Our entire staff shares the responsibility of praying for each registered attendee, by name, the week before a getaway. In addition, volunteers and staff working the event take turns praying for the couples in attendance throughout the entire weekend.

I've had the privilege of interviewing several recent Weekend to Remember attendees over the past couple of months. They love the couple's projects, renewing their vows, and hearing the speakers share their failures and triumphs. One gentleman I spoke to said, "There was a [medical] convention going on at the same time, and one of the ladies from that convention walked by and asked why all these couples were holding hands and smiling!"

Of course, we've shared numerous testimonies with you, our partners, from couples whose lives and marriages have been changed through the Weekend to Remember. We want to invite you to a getaway. Register for a getaway using our group name, CorbinLife, to receive a significant discount on your registration. Better still, for every five couples that register using our group name, we get a free couple's registration that we can use to send a couple in need to the Weekend to Remember. Our website, www.CorbinLife.com, has a banner that links directly to the getaway selection page (and will automatically insert our group name). Even if you've been before, the Weekend to Remember getaway can be a refreshing tune-up for your marriage. We're going to one in June!

CorbinLife.com

We've recently completed an overhaul of our family website. There's still more to do, but it's much more mobile-friendly and does a better job of sharing our calling and vision. You can also sign up for the email version of our prayer letter, which will sometimes contain additional news, resources, and information. Check it out!
